

Lab: Reviewer's Report

1. Download the article, “Rethinking Passwords”. Analyze the article and write a Reviewer's Report.	1
2. Feedback: Constructive, fair vs harsh, not personal, not overly brief Identifies specific issues Notes where the writing is succeeding and failing. If the comment identifies an absolute (something has to be a certain way), this is specified and why. For issues style or citations, directs the author to the most current resource available. Are your positions supported?	12
3. Comments are directive, evaluative, and specific.	6
4. Comments address organization, structure, grammar, clarity, flow, continuity, graphics, and presentation	7
5. Summary includes: author's goal, significance of the work, appropriateness of methods (what was measured; how; what tools used?), results, conclusions	6
6. Evaluation: Do the results support the conclusions? Improvements are suggested.	6
7. Recommendation: Publish, publish with changes, or not recommended for publishing. Explain why.	4
8. Length: 2 pages maximum, double-spaced	2
Total possible:	44
Submit to Canvas by the due date and time: a. Word doc of Reviewer's Report.  Note that there is no rough draft version due for this assignment; only a final version.

--	--